More about the series

This is a revenue generating series for artistes, currently designed as an online series, but with the ability to be taken offline as well when circumstances permit.

We work only with artistes who register with us. Registration is possible only by paying a one time registration fee to Underscore Records Pvt. Ltd. However, if you are registering for more than one category, you will need to pay the registration fee for each category separately. For example, if you perform both classical music and popular music, you will need to register in two categories and pay for each category individually.

We encourage all artistes to decide on their fee independently, based on performance duration slots we will provide. Please feel free to charge whatever amount you wish to, but do remember to pay accompanying colleagues and band members on time.

Our role

Underscore Records will be your intermediary in this series. We will do the following:

- Use social media to announce the series and your involvement in it.
- Liaise with the host and you to ensure that all details are worked out to mutual satisfaction.

We will also charge a fee for the role we play, in addition to the registration fee we charge you.

However, our fee will not reduce your fee. We will charge a percentage over and above your fee.

Some more details

Since this is an on-demand, customised, tailor-made performance series, you will need to spend time with our team each time you are booked for an event, to ensure that all details including repertoire are worked out to the last detail. This is a professional engagement and therefore the responsibility of working out all details and adhering to them rests as much with you as it does with us. This means we need to provide the individual or group sponsoring/gifting your concert with as many details as possible including the location you will perform from, the efficiency of your internet connection, the equipment you will use to livestream, and most importantly, what you will perform for them. We are all performing from our homes and should continue to do so in the interests of safety and health, but the host/organiser should be provided all details with transparency, so that they don't expect you to do something you cannot possibly do - like slithering out of a box in a mermaid costume or performing on a trapeze !
